Getting Ready For Little Theatre Entertainment

Will Be Held on Friday
December 7th

Preparations are now well under way for the first entertainment to be given in the Little Theatre by the local association.

The program will be made up of three one-act plays in which several new members will take part, some for the first time before a Redcliff audience. Two of the plays are comedies and one a drama.

"A Wedding" is a most amusing comedy in which the bridegroom and his male chums experience many difficulties in getting ready for the important event and are kept in a state of excitement and embarrassment by the frequent appearances of the bride, and relatives of the contracting parties. The cast is made up with Mrs. Hargrave, Miss Selhorn, Miss Shaw, B. Thacker, C. G. Pow, O. Wooding and C. J. Hoogveld, and is under the direction of Mrs. Oargrave.

"Thursday Evening" is another comedy. In this young couple have their regular weekly evening at home spoiled for a time by the unexpected visit of both mothers-in-law. However the play works out to a most satisfactory ending and the mothers-in-law prove a blessing in disguise after several amusing incidents occur. The cast is: Mr. Roy Simpson, Miss Roy, Miss Elsie Frey and Mrs. Simpson. Miss McWaine is the director.

"The Evil Pool" is a dramatic episode composed by Mr. King of Redcliff. It is taken from Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables" and gives ample scope for a portrayal of conditions which existed in France at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The cast is made up of Mrs. Stone, Miss Viva Cox, Mr. R. S. Hammett and E. L. 75

Tickets will be on sale, next week-end. General admission 50c, members 25c children 25c.

U. F. C. CUTS LOOSE FROM ALL POLITICS

The Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada has decided to cut its political bonds and leave members free to vote as they desire.

But breaking from the active political field, declared Frank Eliason, secretary, will not check the work of the organization nor hinder its interest in major problems affecting the farmers in the province.

The U. F. C. becomes an educational and protective organization on lines similar to the United Farmers of Manitoba today. Manitoba farmers divorced politics in 1928. The United Farmers of Alberta still hold sway as the governing power in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Van Wert spent a few days this week in Calgary on business. They returned Tuesday night.

Murder Film Has New Kind of Detective

Ed Bruce Discusses All Clues With Suspects In "Murder in Trinidad"

John Vandercrook, author, and Seton I. Miller, screen writer, have joined forces to give motion pictures a new kind of detective.

In adapting Vandercrook's "Murder in Trinidad," coming to the Monarch Theatre on Sunday, Miller has sketched a detective-hero as a human, unassuming chap, who refuses to take anything seriously and who discusses all his clues and theories with all the suspects. He refuses to make a mystery of his gongola and comes out by his complete, unvarnished honesty befuddles and disarms the opposition.

Nigel Bruce, most popular comedian of the British screen makes his real American film debut as the unusual sleuth in "Murder in Trinidad," with "Teaser Angel and Victor Jory" sharing his adventures in the Fox Film production.

Demand in States For Low Grade Wheat

Duty Reduced on Wheat For Feed and Stock

Nearly a million bushels of Canadian wheat were shipped into Duluth and Superior last week. Most of this was Amber Durum but large quantities of low grade wheat are also going into the States for feeding purposes, in fact quite a premium exists at Fort William for low grade compared with Vancouver due to the demand from the United States. The lower grades of Canadian Wheat are now at a price which makes them competitive with Argentine wheat, but so far little increased demand has arisen. The lower wheat grades are now at a price which also compares as substitute for feeding grains. The United States has reduced the duty on imports of wheat unfit for human consumption to a basis of 10¢ per bushel or approximately 6¢ per bushel as compared to the usual duty of 42¢ per bushel. No. 4 wheat and feed wheat are considered unfit for milling and can thus be imported into U. S. at a reduced duty.

A smoker is being held in the Armory here on Saturday night of this week, for returned men.

The light fall of snow last Sunday night brought quite a change in the weather, about two inches of snow fell and the thermometer dropped several degrees.

Elaborate, comfortable chairs have recently been installed in the Monarch Theatre. They are being most favorably commented upon by the patrons from here.

Open verdict was returned by an inquest jury under Coroner Dr. S. F. McEwen in Medicine Hat Monday night on the death of an infant whose charred remains were removed from the furnace at 733 Seventh Street on November 5th.

Word has been received that J. W. Unwin and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are going to spend a week in this district to hold meetings to discuss the social credit system. They intend holding a meeting in Redcliff some time next week.

Alberta Farm Strikers Handed Jail Terms

Had Evidently Forgotten They Are Living in Canada

Two jail terms, each of two months, and fines and court costs aggregating $435 were imposed at Vegreville Monday in police court by Magistrate A. B. Gore-Hickman on seven picketers charged as a result of a grain strike fracas at Mundare, Alberta, Nov. 7 last.

Pete Kleparchuk and William Jasey were sentenced to two months in jail on charges of intimidation, and along with Pete Berenziuk, Metro Ulan, Sam Ulan, Fred Yaniv and Joe Quinichuk, were fined $20 and costs on charges of obstructing police officers, and $20 and costs each for doing wilful damage.

Judging from the above names the culprits had evidently forgotten that they are living in Canada.

Britain Still Strong For Continuing Peace

Determination that Britain will continue to work earnestly for the furtherance of peace by international collaboration was expressed in the speech from the throne at the opening of the new session of British parliament.

Despite the inclement weather the King opened the new session personally, but the great state procession in open land was called off because of the fog and cold and his majesty and other members of the royal family with their attendants proceeded to Westminster in motorcars.

Robert J. Rice, 73, retired C.P.R. engineer, who came to Medicine Hat in the company's service in 1883, died Monday afternoon. Deceased was a one time proprietor of the Royal Hotel.

Letter of Thanks From Local Legion

Local Legion Appreciate Poppy Sale Held Here

Officers and Members of Redcliff Branch No. 4 Canadian Legion or the B.E.S.L. sincerely appreciate the services rendered, by Miss Cox and Miss Moore of the school staff and the high school girls who conducted the Poppy Day sales campaign in Town recently, the results of same being most gratifying.

The Poppies are all made in the vetcraft shops of Alberta by disabled ex-service men, the majority of whom are depending on this work as their sole means of support.

We also wish to thank the citizens of Redcliff, for their generous response to the sales girls when called upon, and especially mention Mr. J. Johnson of Tilley, who conducted the sale of poppies, at that point for the Redcliff branch of the Canadian Legion.

Trusting the people of Redcliff will continue their interest in the affairs of ex-service men and their dependents in the future as they have in the past.

Story of Romance That Shook the World

Romance written in words of fire deep in the hearts of the lovers of the world!

That's one of the descriptive phrases used to herald the coming of Cecil B. DeMille's newest Paramount production, "Cleopatra," which will open its 4 day engagement at the Monarch Theatre starting Nov. 28.

The film, a modern screen treatment of one of the world's greatest love stories, has Claudette Colbert, Warren Williams and Hilary Whitcomb in the principal parts. Whitcomb is the young Englishman DeMille brought to Hollywood for the role of Marc Antony, the noble Roman who gave up his life for love of the Egyptian queen, while Empires tottered about him.

Rome and Egypt live again in all their monumental splendor, serving here as a background for the deathless love story that destroyed mighty empires and wrote the most exciting pages of history.

Bartlett Cormack noted short story writer, did the screen adaptation from the story by Waldemar Young and Vincent Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolton were surprised by a number of friends on the occasion of their 30th wedding anniversary on Wednesday Nov. 7th. Cards were played and the honors went to Mrs. J. Bolton and Mr. N. Willis; consolation to Mrs. M. McLeary and Mr. Stan. Britt. A dainty lunch was served, after which Mr. Newnam made a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Bolton on behalf of their many friends.

Greatest Hunt For Gold In The History Of Canada Has Been Carried On Over Wide Area

A season that brought what is believed to have been the greatest hunt for gold in Canada's history is drawing to a close. No figures are available to show the exact number of prospectors and assistants who struggled through often inhospitable country, but a careful approximation indicates a total of about 16,000.

Increased prices for the yellow metal spurred prospectors' activity. An aerial factor was extensive use of aeroplanes, which provided access to new districts and revealed existence of still more. Aerial photography, it is said, has revolutionized the metal-mining industry.

Pictures taken from speeding aeroplanes tell experts much. The topographical survey of the Department of the Interior produced 40,000 aerial photographs during the summer. From these, most of them taken in Northern Manitoba, Athabasca, Great Bear and Great Slave regions and in the Nahanni district near the Yukon boundary, maps are being developed. Planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force carrying aerial surveyors made flights over the famous Lac district in Northwestern Ontario. Some flights were made in other provinces. Maps and aerial photography this year was designed to help gold seekers.

Luck, prospectors and geologists say, is still the most important factor in the hunt for gold and less valuable metals. Once a tree was blown down. Its roots were found surrounding soil and bared what developed to be one of the richest veins ever discovered. In Canada, the summer a prospector stopped on the shore of a lake because a high wind endangered his canoe. While he waited for the storm to blow away, he covered what is regarded as one of the most important finds of the year. Such incidents are said to make prospectors superstitious.

Aerial photography has removed some of the chance from prospecting. It tells the field man what rocks contain gold and the territory where the soil, or what miners call "overburden," is too deep for them to dig workable veins, even if they did exist. They help him concentrate his efforts where it is most likely to find gold. Pictures show granite formations in which metals are seldom found, and, on the other hand, indicate geological "faults" and great fractures where profitable mineralization is more probable.

Stereoscopes placed over the pictures show the valleys and hills in relief. After discovery of a vein, a study of the pictures helps in development, as it shows the contour of the country and indicates the best route for a road and the most advantageous location for a mill.

In the files of the topographical survey 600,000 negatives are kept, and a sufficient number of prints are available to prevent any possible shortage.

Got What She Wanted

Action of New York Girl Would Seem Justified

Another story of an individual bucking the tides of big business is told us by a young lady who wanted six buttons. Simply six buttons of a certain size. She found the type she wanted at Altman's, but told the girl she needed a size larger than those on display. The girl asked her what color, and our young lady said the color didn't matter, because she was going to cover them with cloth. Altman's covered buttons, the girl said, would be pleased to do the covering. The young lady helped the girl to cover her own buttons, please. In that case, the girl said, she couldn't sell the buttons. After she had covered her own buttons, then our young lady drew herself together and told a little white lie. She would take six red buttons, and wouldn't ever dream of re-covering them. The girl sold them—The New Yorker.

More Radio Sets Sold

Not only were the radio sets sold in Canada during the first six months of 1934 more numerous than the sales during the same period of 1933, but they were also more expensive. The total value was $2,160,000 compared with $677,000 a year ago, the average value (factory price) being $34 and $38 respectively. Of the 8,000 of the sets sold were for automobiles.

Developed in England, a new type of autogyro having neither wings nor rudder can hang motionless in the air and land on a tennis court.

Dangerous Policy

Restoration Of The Dead Experiment Should Not Be Applied On Human Subjects

Restoring of the dead is no great feat in the opinion of Professor Henry E. Henderson, chief of the department of pharmacology at the University of Toronto, but is a dangerous practice when applied to human beings.

Dr. Henderson revealed university research workers frequently had restored to life animals apparently dead for as long as eight minutes, not as a trick to raise them from the dead but because success of experiments often depends on the subject remaining alive.

Animals such as dogs and cats, he said, had frequently been restored after overdoses of anesthetics apparently killed them. The same method of restoration, he declared, had been applied to human beings killed by carbon monoxide gas poisoning, but the subjects frequently became idiots.

"We get these carbon monoxide cases," he said, "but the brain has been impaired and, in this respect, this tendency becomes more and more pronounced."

It is not unlikely the Soviet union of Russia may smash on that phase alone for the Bolsheviks or new dealers in Russia newspapers the young communists are asking if it is possible to continue the family organization and at the same time discharge their regimented duties to the state. The burden of the correspondence is the complaint that the amount of work required of citizens by the community leaves neither men nor women sufficient time to develop a wholesome and affectionate family relationship. ### Manitoba Pension Plan

No Change In System Contemplated By Government

Changes in the Old Age Pensions Act in Ontario, proposed by Hon. David Croll, minister of public welfare, appeared to be a move toward the system now in effect in Manitoba. C. K. Newcomb, administrator of Manitoba old age pensions, states, "In Winnipeg applications for old age pensions were made to the social welfare commission. In all other Manitoba towns applications were made to municipal councils. These whose applications were rejected may appeal to Mr. Newcomb for a hearing."

Mr. Newcomb said he had no reason to believe any changes in the system were contemplated by the provincial government at present.

Indian States Pay High Tribute To Lord Willingdon By Erecting Statue In His Honor

B.C. Salt Fish

This Is The Latest Commodity To Come Under Marketing Act

Salt fish from British Columbia waters is the latest commodity to come under a marketing scheme. Announcement was made of the approval by the cabinet of a scheme for the marketing of salt herring and salted salmon produced in British Columbia.

The Dominion marketing board under the Natural Products Marketing Act has a number of other schemes under consideration, including live stock and poultry schemes for Western Canada.

British Columbia, however, leads all provinces in taking advantage of the act, for besides its salt herring and salmon products it now has its red cedar shingles and its tree fruit under regulation of marketing boards. The scheme was adopted on the application of the meal, oil and salt fish section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in British Columbia. The local marketing board will consist of two members appointed by the organization, but by the Canada Salt Fish Exporters, Limited, and a chairman to be appointed by the deputy minister of fisheries for Canada.

The local board will have power to regulate the time and place of the marketing of the regulated products and the quantity and quality to be released for marketing. It may also conduct a pool for the equalization of returns.

The livestock scheme is proposed by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Producers, Limited, and applies only to that province, but similar schemes are being prepared for Manitoba and Alberta, and all are designed to fit into a general plan to control livestock marketing over the whole of Canada. Opinions of the producers are being sound before proceeding further.

The provincial boards would be linked through a sales agency and all products apart from those for local consumption would be handled by the sales agency. All producers would be registered, all sales pooled and all packers and dealers, whether wholesale and retail, licensed.

Agricultural Economy

To Frequent Information Of An International Character

The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome is planning to ask governments for data on which to base recommendations for world planning in agricultural economy. Its move followed unanimous approval of the proposal made by Dr. Henry Charles Taylor, United States permanent delegate to the institute, to change the organization's direction along lines of international planning.

As soon as possible the institute will begin its new work, rendered possible by the resolution endorsing Taylor's proposal. It declared the action had been taken "as a means to improve the quality of work and to meet the needs of the time for agricultural information of international character."

Interested In Kitchens

King George Likes To Cook When He Is Allowed

An amusing story of King George is told by Philip Inman, managing governor of Charing Cross Hospital, in his book, "Oil and Wine," just published.

The King, he writes, was passing along the corridor to one of the wards when he stopped before the door of the ward kitchen.

"May I go inside?" the King asked.

The door was opened and revealed a nurse bending down before a gas oven. The King took in everything at a glance and then said: "I'm very interested in kitchens. I sometimes do a little cooking myself—that is when I'm allowed."—New York Times.

Wife: "No, I didn't see a button on your trousers."

Husband: "Well, there are places I can go to without a wife."

The South Atlantic ocean contains islands which seafarers have used for years, but have never seen. They are in a perpetual fog.

Approximately 4,000,000,000 pounds of tobacco are produced in the world annually.

It is an honor almost unique that the princes of the Indian states are paying Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India. They have subscribed funds with which a statue in his honor will be erected in New Delhi—"to express," in the words of the official announcement, "the high esteem and regard in which the Viceroy is held by the princes generally and to commemorate his long and distinguished connection with the country."

The success of Lord Willingdon's service as governor-general of Canada led his friends to believe he had the qualities demanded by the much more onerous responsibilities of his Indian post, and they have not been disappointed. In this Dominion he displayed a statesmanship which is an upholder of tradition, but not a stickler for form. His authority did not rest upon conventionalism, nor was his influence bounded by the limits of his high office. He went to the trouble of learning Canada, of understanding the Canadian viewpoint, and in every branch of his public service he had the extremely competent support of his subordinates.

In the larger spheres of Indian affairs Lord Willingdon has demonstrated by these same qualities—and by a happy and rare combination of firmness with tact—his right to be ranked with the great pro-consuls of British India. In India, something more than three years ago the country was rent with disorder, and Lord Willingdon, in the face of the land and the centre of disaffection and unrest, and there was serious resistance to the British plan of broadening self-government in India. The Viceroy has not done anything spectacular, but the picture today is a very different one. The country is at peace, and the Viceroy's way into the new sun.

And this has been accomplished, we imagine, largely because Lord Willingdon is tactful and shrewd and because it is known he will not tolerate intemperance, because his policy in India, as in Canada, is founded on common sense.—Ottawa Journal.

Leads In Literary Output

Russia Claims Production Of Greatest Number Of Books

Russia, Russia, a generation ago the most illiterate country of Europe, has been producing literary achievements and literary boasts that in the production of books it has surpassed not only every other nation, but even the United States and Germany combined.

Just recently 500 Soviet authors met in the first All-Russian Writers' congress, and laid down the general lines of Russian literature for the future.

In connection with their meeting, figures have been published that show the vast progress the Soviet has made in book publishing since the revolution.

Not less than five million books, the Soviet reports, has been issued within the past 15 years.

Within the past five years the circulation of the writings of Maxim Gorki, the Soviet legends, has been 18,965,000 copies.

Sholokov, author of "Bull Plover the Don," has sold 2,100,000 books. And even poetry, ranking well below prose in other countries, has vast popularity in Russia. Official figures place the circulation of Dostoevsky's "The Idiot" at 7,400,000.

The yellow metal worm is a pest that is easily dealt with in winter time in Canada. With the meal or four placed outside in a glass jar, the temperature will kill all the pests in a night. If the temperature does not fall below 32 degrees Fahrenheit, it is better, says the Dominion Entomologist, to leave the food out two days.

Popular Anyway

Modern science has struck a blow at apple pie. Dr. Carl R. Fellers of the Massachusetts state college, said apple pie contains only about one-fourth as much vitamin C as the flesh of the apple. The pie was made. Vitamin C is a mysterious quality in a food which prevents scurvy.

Great Britain and Ireland produce only enough meat to supply London's population with 125 pounds of beef, 2.6 ounces of mutton and lamb, and 2.6 ounces of pork per head each week.

EDITOR MORALIZES

A Minnesota editor moralizes thusly: "If we could all switch businesses all the way around for just one week, we'd be a lot more sympathetic of the other fellow's problem and know a lot more than we do at present about the cause of his shortcomings and of his apparent failures. Let the banker sell prunes, the grocer pull teeth, the dentist run a garage, the garage man edit a paper, the editor run the bank, for just six little work days and we'd all have our eyes so wide open to what the others are up against that we would never have the courage to criticize, nor would we be sympathetic again. Then if the whole caboodle of us were to move on various farms and operate them for another six days per each, we'd all be so wise and understanding that the peace and harmony prevailing would make this little old community just about the best place in the world to live in. It can't be done, of course, but we could take the thought of ourselves that we don't know anything about the other man's job and concede that for all we know he is handling it in good shape.

Canada's Egg Market

Grading Regulations Improved Quality And Ensured Good Prices

Canada is the highest priced egg market in the world, and credit, in some measure, for this variable position in these days of low prices for agricultural products must be given to the Canadian egg grading regulations. The egg regulations were designed to improve prices and marketing conditions and the quality of eggs placed in the market. In the various activities of the egg inspection service one is regarded as more essential than that of preventing eggs of an inferior grade being sold under a higher grade. The quality and grading of eggs in wholesale and retail stores is subject to continual supervision by officers of the Canadian Department of Agriculture egg inspection service.

Supplying Canada's own demands for eggs is a most important business. The total production of Canadian farm eggs in 1933 was approximately 70,585,000 dozen with an estimated value of $26,245,000. Some figures relate only to eggs produced by hens on farms, and do not include eggs of urban poultry. Canadians are generous egg eaters and during 1933 each person in Canada consumed, on an average, over 21 dozen eggs. Although Canadian consumption was 229,146,631 dozen eggs, which was close to sixteen million dozen in excess of the eggs produced on farms.

New Toys More Realistic

Streamlined Effect Is Being Introduced In Many Ways

Streamlined skates, with a spare roller and a tall light to resemble Santa Claus is going to bring many good kiddies this Christmas.

Toys, according to a preview at Santa's workshop at the North Pole, will be more realistic and more durable.

Toy automobiles will have streamlined effects, "bats" over the wheels and really be a miniature model of the real thing.

Little sister's dolls will not be so large, but will have real human hair, fingernails and smooth, flesh-colored bodies. Some will eat and drink. Her stove will be electric and there will be a separate switch for the dolls to the oven.

Bicycles, scooters, wagons and velocipedes, too, are following the trend to streamline. In addition to all those improvements, the new wagons, scooters and other toy vehicles will have pneumatic tires.

The toy makers have done big things for the kindergarten youngsters. Toys this year will have more educational features than ever. Small dumbbells have just enough weight to give the youngsters good muscle building as well as being fun.

Several new adult games are being brought out. One of the most popular is expected to be "monopoly" which four to six players can play. "Sorry," an English game, "Igo," from Japan and "Harlem," game about games on the board. Checkers is due for a comeback.

Due to changes in the money exchange, there will be no Christmas toys. Christmas tree ornaments are sold more because few are made in the United States. The same holds true with miniature glass dolls, according to workers in the North Pole Toy Shop.

Teachers Learn About Weeds

Every Sort Grown At School Near Belfast, Ireland

Weeds are encouraged to grow in a garden which is beautifully kept at an elementary school near Belfast, Ireland. Under the guidance of the ministry of education 20 teachers are being taught how to grow weeds in pots to the scholars in the rural area. Every sort of weed is grown in order history. There are next little rows of regular garden plants which drive the amateur gardener to despair. They are fostered and tended as if they were orchids. By careful examination of the specimens the students get to know a lot about weeds and there will be a great slaughter when they return to their own school gardens.

Friends Of Japan

Canada is Japan's nearest neighbor and the Japanese people remember the sympathetic understanding which the concensus of opinion in Canada has always manifested toward the general policy of Japan. Hon. Iyemasa Tokuyama, Japanese ambassador to Canada, told members of the Winnipeg Board of Trade.

Two famous bells, the "Maria Gloriosa" and the "Empress" were cast from the metal of 42 French cannon taken by the Germans in the war of 1870.

Fish Livers Bring Good Price

As A Result Of Research Work Waste Material Now Worth Money

Fish livers were formerly only so much waste, except cod livers, but research is changing that. Halibut and swordfish livers, for instance, are now worth money to Canadian fishermen because research has found out that they contain an abundance of the same health-building vitamins which give cod liver oil its high medicinal value. The livers, usually shipped in ice cans so that they will retain their freshness, are sold to pharmaceutical companies which extract the oil from them and market it in medicinal preparations. Sales of halibut livers netted Dominion fishermen about $40,000 last year, quite a tidy sum to get for material thought to be thrown away as useless until a year or two ago, and this year Nova Scotia fishermen are finding a sale for swordfish livers. Swordfish are big fish with big livers so the fishermen are likely to do fairly well out of the new business; at all events, they are doing something for what used to be worth nothing, and with little extra effort, for swordfish are always landed before being shipped to market.

Swordfish are not taken on the British Columbia coast—nor, for that matter, anywhere else in the Pacific waters except off Nova Scotia—but it is in Pacific areas that the Dominion's largest halibut fishery is carried on and it is there, of course, that most of the business in halibut livers is done. Out of the 250,000 pounds of halibut livers sold in Canadian fishermen last year over 220,000 pounds came from British Columbia and the remaining quantity from Nova Scotia. The average price, both East and West, was about a pound and this year's price is understood to be much the same. Sales of halibut livers have been in progress for several years but it was only recently that the vitamin content of swordfish livers was determined and a market for them thus created.

Prize For Canadian Rockies

More Magnificent Than Alps States World Traveller

"If the people of Europe and United States only knew of the magnificence of the Canadian Rockies and the beauties of the Pacific coast, they would be more than ready to leave their homes and travel millions instead of thousands."

This was the impression voiced by H. V. Morton, Sunday editor of the New York American, who, with Mrs. Morton, boarded the C.P.R. Seattle boat, terminating their first tour of Canada.

"Yes," he said, "while I have travelled extensively over all the United States, my first visit to Canada was my first visit to the Rockies, and now I am beginning to realize what pleasure I have denied myself. The day is my trip to the Rockies, the brilliant, yet not withering sunlight, and the bracing climate of the mountain region would be enough to repay my trip for any distance travelled, but—the Rockies? The Alps cannot even approximate their majestic grandeur and beauty. I am certainly looking forward to seeing them again."

Hardships Not Known

Suffering Caused By Depression Not Reflected In Better Lives

The relief lists don't anywhere near represent the total loss by unemployment and the full burden of hardship now being borne by the general public. Hardly a man anywhere who is earning a living—a very much depreciated living as a rule—but has felt compelled to assume, from motives of compassion, the burden of supporting a family.

It's easy to be glib and say that the jobless should have saved for a rainy day, a rainy day years for most of them and that it's always possible to get along somehow. But how does it work out in actual life? The help has never been told of suffering and deprivation in Canada caused by our man-made depression. Certainly the relief lists, appalling as they are, do not reflect it.—Edmonton Bulletin.

A Quick Thinker

"Who owns those ferrysboats I tripped over coming down the stairs last night?"

The landlady gave a fierce look. "Ferrysboats, indeed!" she gasped. "I'll have you understand they are my shoes."

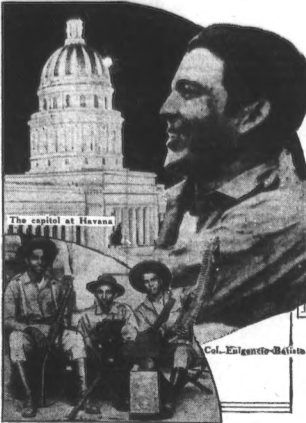

The boarder gulped uneasily. "Did I mean ferrysboats?" he hastily asked. "I meant 'furry boots'."

First Gosip: "What does Miss Seattle mean by 'oh'?"

Second Gosip: "A peninsula, of course."

First Gosip: "Oh, yes, a narrow neck stretched out to sea."

VIRTUAL DICTATOR OF CUBA

One man holds turbulent Cuba in the hollow of his hand, and that man, according to reports, is Fulgencio Batista. Only thirteen months ago Batista was a sergeant in the rebellious army under former President Machado, and now he commands the army. Batista is the "court of last resort" in the opinion of political observers. Above are views of the capital of Havana, Colonel Batista, and part of Cuba's defence equipment.

Ginseng Root Grows Wild

Cultivation Calls For Expensive Equipment And Special Technique

Ginseng root is produced in Canada for export to China, where it has been cultivated for thousands of years for its medicinal properties. The word "ginseng" is derived from the Chinese and means "man of the mountain." It is a small, fleshy root, and its cultivation is a very difficult task. It is not until the fifth or sixth year from the planting of the seed that the root attains sufficient growth for pulling and drying for market. Its cultivation is highly localized but is reported profitable where suitable conditions are reproduced.—Toronto Star.

Big Poultry Plant

American Investors Reported To Be Developing Plant

Chicago and New York financial interests are reported sponsoring a scheme to erect a $500,000 poultry plant in Clinton, Ont., for the production of eggs.

The report said the plant would be one of the largest of its kind in the British Empire.

The sponsors of the poultry plant were reported to be considering employing 400 persons in manufacture of salt, soda ash, acids and synthetic ammonia.

Twelve per cent of the motor home issues in England are held by women.

Alaska's flag carries the symbol of the Great Dipper and the Polar Star.

Advising The Farmer

Arm Chair Critics Usually Have Lots Of Ideas

How easy it is for some persons with imagination and gifted with a few of words to sit in a comfortable arm chair, feet cocked on a desk and dictate to a conscientious instructor the farmer can better his condition. One of these effusions recently reached our desk and here it is.

"The application of engineering to agriculture has for its purpose the utilization of engineering principles, methods and means to decrease the waste costs of farm products, to reduce the amounts of livestock labor in production of crops and caring for livestock, and to increase the satisfaction of farm living."

What a wonderful thing this must be for the farmer. The application of engineering to farming is going to show him how he can more easily, grow more and harvest; how best to unload his grain in the mow; cut and hold the corn into the silo; milk his cows with the minimum of energy; and in the cheapest manner; weed the turnip patch and get the weeds from his corn and potatoes while the farmer's wife is to be told how to perform her multiplicity of chores about the house so as to increase the satisfaction of farm living.

If the authors of some of the non-sensical stuff emanating from city centers were to write their articles down on the desk until the following morning, and then read them before they began the work of the day, we feel sure much of it would find a place in the wastepaper basket.—Perth Express.

Something To Remember

Nations Could Learn Much From "Slow Poke English"

When ever you hear people talking about "slow poke English" and its tendency to be cautious, here is something to keep in mind.

Since 1929 the world has been passing through the worst business depression it has ever known, yet, as Herbert N. Casson, Canadian editor of the London magazine Efficiency points out, in that period only one British department store had closed its doors and not one of the other department stores had gone bankrupt in which it failed to make a profit.

When that period not one railroad system has suffered a loss. One large hotel has been torn-down to make way for an office building, but not one hotel has gone into bankruptcy. And not one bank has failed. Canada can hardly claim that record as nations have, but in other parts of the world it is not so. While some other nations will be hard put to match it at all.—Sault Daily Star.

Fortune Teller Was Right

Foretold Succession Of Sultan Fund To Thronos Of Egypt

When it was first reported that Paris informed Prince Faisal he would die a king he laughed. He was far from the succession. Besides, Egypt had no king. In 1915 it looked for a moment as if the prophecy might come true. A king was wanted for Egypt, and Italy was said to support his candidature. But a German prince was chosen.

"Then came the war." His nephew, the Khedive Abbas Hilmi, was de-throned. Prince Faisal's elder brother, Prince Hussein, became Sultan. Two years later he died. Sultan Hussein's son renounced his rights. Prince Faisal succeeded. When Britain abolished the Protectorate in 1932 Sultan Faisal proclaimed himself king. The Paris fortune teller was right after all.—London Daily Telegraph.

Par-Mutuel Betting

Less Money Wagered On Horse Racing This Year

Par-mutuel betting in Canada this season was $20,978,400, a decrease of $4,011,000 from 1932. It was reported by the department of agriculture. This resulted from 295 days of racing, compared between 40 meetings. The smallest amount was a two-day meeting at Red Deer, Alta., $209.

With four tracks and 56 days of racing, Toronto led the wagering with $8,965,500, almost 11,000,000 less than last year. Winnipeg was second with $2,400,000 from three tracks and 35 days of racing; Vancouver, third, $2,252,300, three tracks, 42 days; Montreal, fourth, $1,941,800, three tracks, 42 days, and Calgary, fifth, $2,030,000, two tracks, 21 days.

The function of the liver is that of saving heat when the body is chilled or at the cost of fever, according to Dr. Henry G. Barbour, of Yale.

Dundas has banned Sunday concerts for charity.

Superstition In China

People Seek To Lure Evil Spirits To Death Before Cars

There is no congestion in motor traffic in Kwientsai, Honan, China, as there are only two automobiles in the city, that belonging to St. Paul's hospital and that of the city magistrate, but nevertheless a driver must be very alert to avoid accidents, for in driving through the country groups of women and children run constantly across the road immediately in front of the car. It is not a game, but a serious business, the hope being that any evil spirit trailing them will be run down by the car if they get over just in time to save themselves but have the spirit still on the road.

Such is an example of the superstition that reigns in the hearts of the people of the district, the story of which formed part of the vivid and memorable address given in an Ontario city by Dr. R. F. Brown, graduate of the medical school of the University of Toronto, who has been at St. Paul's hospital at Kwientsai for the past six years.

Other examples of the superstitions of the people were also told by the speaker—of how during the extreme heat of last year they were surprised at the unusual number of gods being placed in the fields, barns, wood and paper gods, and were told that the people were giving them a taste of the weather they were giving them in the hope that, experiencing bad weather, they would be given the necessity for mending rain. And once during extreme heat the fact that the death from the gate of the walled city was looked for some time, the people believing that the rain spirits come in through the wall gates and were giving the gods they did come in they would not be allowed to get out until they had given rain.

Cause Needless Tragedies

Curious Customs Under Throes WT Could Help In Accidents

Louis Barbour, the brilliant little minister of France, little to death in a power line. But a bullet wound in his arm. The deepest shadow of that tragedy lies in the fact that the death from the gate of the walled city was looked for some time, the people believing that the rain spirits come in through the wall gates and were giving the gods they did come in they would not be allowed to get out until they had given rain.

France bears the grisly burden caused by the costly stupidity of an excited crowd and the distracted attention of the police.

One of us would like to hear again the old and never demonstrated tradition in public dinner clearance should be made for the increased and expert. Crowds that gather at scenes of accidents and fires are a serious hindrance to the police. A give real help. The gaping spectator of casualties is both unmanly and unhelpful.

If one cannot aid in time of catastrophe, one should at least keep out of the way of those who can.

Likely To Take Month

Establishment Of Canada's Central Bank Means Much Work

Establishment of the Bank of Canada is still a matter of time, and probabilities are that the organization will not begin to function until February next year. Subscriptions to the stock of the bank closed some time ago, and this was followed by a process of allocation. The policy of the government is to ensure that shares are held widely as possible among all classes of the community.

This has increased the difficulty of the government to raise money, and has also complicated the difficulty of the shareholders in the matter of electing directors to the bank. However, the shareholders list will shortly be published in the official government publication in order that shareholders may ascertain who among them are eligible to hold directorships. The statute provides for seven.

Wife: "A fine husband you are. Why, you can't even keep me in clothes."

Husband: "No. And I bought you a home, and I can't keep you in that either."

Lady—"My goodness! Where is it? I've pushed and pulled every way in the car."

Catty: "My dear, I could give you a wrinkle or two!"

Control of Colds

PLAN EASY TO FOLLOW

Years ago, Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern method of treating colds. Now, Vicks VapoRub has developed the ideal companion to VapoRub—Vicks Vapo-rub—the new aid in preventing colds.

These two preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helpfulness of Vicks Plan in reducing the number, duration and dangers of colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians. The Plan is fully explained in the Vicks Vapo-rub works.

To Help Prevent Colds
Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition apt to be followed by a cold—such as contact with others having active colds—crowded public places, stuffy, overheated rooms—sudden changes in temperature, wet exposure, etc.—avoided. These are the common causes of colds—excesses in living which lower resistance, such as over-eating, smoking, or drinking—after a hard day when you are over-tired.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Four common law criminals, all under 20 years of age, were executed by the state in the court of the prison at Desamu, Germany.

Hermann Ganswindt, 78, the inventor who years ago conceived a project to go to Mars in a dirigible, died recently at Berlin.

Third man to join the old Royal North West Mounted Police who was formed in Ottawa in the early 70's, James McEwen, 83, is dead at Edmonton.

A direct tax on industrial payrolls which would raise $200,000,000, lies at the heart of the new unemployment insurance plan now being worked out for presentation to the next United States congress.

Little Journeys In Science

GLASS

(By Gordon H. Gust, M.A.)

Historians tell us that the Egyptians discovered how to make glass. The production of glass on a large scale started in Egypt about 3750 B.C. Alkali (sodium carbonate) was melted with crushed quartz, limestone, and copper compounds in crucibles to give a blue glass. Glass made in Egypt was shipped to all parts of the Roman Empire.

Science has shown the modern manufacturer how to produce many new and useful kinds of glass. Ordinary glass, which is composed of soda, lime and sand cracks readily when suddenly heated or cooled. If common glass is heated strongly it softens, and vessels made from it change their shape. The addition of boron compounds and certain metallic oxides to the formula of ordinary glass produces a type of glass known as heat glass, which can stand high temperatures. Recently scientists have produced press glass by replacing some or all of the lime with aluminum in some other materials.

Pyrex glass is strong and stands changes in temperature so well that cooking dishes can be manufactured from it. Silica, commonly known as sand, can be converted into a transparent glass known as silica glass, which can be heated to high temperatures without being broken.

Optical glass for lenses of all kinds is produced by adding lead oxide to the glass mixture. The glass must be free from all color-producing impurities. It must be free from even very small air bubbles or other defects. The glass is made from very small grains of silica (sand), and the grains of silica are made from glass very rich in lead (lead glass). The glass of this cut-glass vessels is made of this same kind but it contains less lead.

Recently a plate glass has been produced in England which has special strength and toughness. The glass does not splinter when broken but forms small comparatively harmless fragments. This comparatively new glass is about as strong as ordinary plate glass.

Where Professors Disagree

Have Different Theories About Common Cold Being Catching

Sometimes one wonders whether the published discoveries of scientists are real discoveries or are attempts to start a new theory. This in the matter of academic debate may often be desirable, particularly when progress seems to be arrested so it profitable to go back and deliberately question and even deny what has been accepted. However, even when this is done, the public must not suppose that the new ideas are necessarily true or that the old are false.

Something of the sort has been happening with regard to the investigation of common colds. Two California professors have challenged existing theories. It is said: "They have not been able, they say, to infect one person with the cold of another. Inoculation will not work and they doubt very much the theories held almost as household axioms about the disease being highly catching. They think also that germs are a result, not the cause, of the disease."

Some day presumably we shall know.

Sheep Clip Shows Increase

B.C. Shipping Half Million Pounds Of Wool To United Kingdom

About 500,000 pounds of wool, representing the spring clip of the flocks controlled by the B.C. Sheep Breeders' Association, have been assembled, graded and packed at the Pacific Coast Terminal, Ltd., warehouse, New Westminster, for export to the United Kingdom.

Its value, at a minimum price of 30 cents a pound, will be approximately $150,000.

This shipment is reported to be the largest ever assembled for export from the Fraser River. The volume is nearly double that of last year, which was 250,000 pounds.

Up until last year the B.C. wool clip was assembled at Kamloops and shipped by rail to Toronto, where it was graded for export to Liverpool. B.C. breeders discovered they can save approximately 1 1/2 per cent by shipping their product by water via the Panama Canal.

The wool is received from the Fraser valley, Okanagan, Kootenay and Vancouver Island. Individual shipments range from a few pounds to many thousands.

Was Familiar Character

"Old Matt" Was Carriage Attendant In London Thirty Years

"Old Matt," a familiar character in London, who is estimated to have opened the doors of more than 250,000 private cars, taxicabs and hansom cabs, had died in that city, aged 74. His name was Walter Matthews, and for thirty years he was the carriage attendant outside Simpson's in the Strand. In his youth he was a noted boxer, and later went to New York as a butler. Since returning to London he declined several offers to return to the United States.

The bridegroom was in a poetic frenzy as he strolled along the seashore. "Roll on, thou deep and dark blue ocean, roll," he recited to his bride.

"Oh, Gerald," she exclaimed, "how wonderful you are. It's doing it!"

A Clever Artist

English Artist Uses Wood For Canvas and Pictures

At Southampton lives one of the most unusual artists in the world—a carpenter who "paints" pictures with pieces of wood. He uses three-ply wood for a canvas and in one of his pictures—showing a tree in leaf—uses 3,000 pieces of wood were used. He obtains light and shade effects by selecting the right grain markings. It is impossible to detect joins when the pictures are finished. They are coated with a clear white polish and framed in ebony. Rare and expensive woods from all over the world go to the making of these unique pictures. Some woods are so brittle that they must be cut with great care before being glued into position. When the Queen admired six of the pictures at an exhibition in London she was informed they had taken four years to complete.

Model Of Wireless-Controlled Airship Is Being Tested

Experiments are being made in Tulle with the model of a wireless-controlled airship. The length of the model is 30 feet, and it carries no passengers but a "mechanical man" in the shape of a complicated wireless apparatus. It is intended that by means of another wireless on the ground the dirigible shall be made to ascend and then to be steered in any direction. It is hoped, according to Hester, that it will be possible to make the airship drop propaganda leaflets over any place to which it may be sent.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued

Dustin swung about to face a gray little figure that stiffened at sight of him. Him Peters had been cashier of the Sevo Bank for more than thirty years. Rotten by decent and cautious by nature, only once had he ventured to extend his activities beyond Sevo. He was like Kipling's muskrat that all his life tried to counter courage to run to the middle of the floor. Peters muttered that courage once... and Dustin caught him with a loan of five thousand dollars on his house. That loan saved Peters his bank job but it made him the bond-slave of Sam Dustin.

"Just a moment, Peters..." Dustin drew him aside. "...How much money does old man Carr owe the bank? I've got to know."

"The bank?" Peters quavered. "He don't owe the bank at all, Mr. Dustin. He did owe the bank but old man Pegram took it up. It's a note and Mr. Pegram's wonderin' right now what to do with it. He's lost a lot of money and needs cash."

"How much is the note for?" "Well..." Old Carr hadn't paid any interest on it for a year. It's about twelve thousand dollars right now. And I'll tell you more."

Dustin's heart gave a great jump. This was better than he dared hope. He stared hard at the little figure before him.

"I've got a five thousand dollar note of yours, Peters," he said. "It's secured by this house and lot, eh?" "Yes, sir. That's so." "Something hard in his throat seemed to choke the little gray cashier."

"That note of yours is due next week. I want that note of Carr's that Pegram's got. See?"

"I'll see it, Mr. Dustin. I don't see how I can fix it. It's Mr. Pegram's private business. I..."

More than ever did Sam Peters regret that secured Peter in what that was to remove him and his old wife from any danger of poverty. He was one final wriggle for escape.

"As matters stand, I don't see how it can help you to own a half share of the Hour-Glass ranch," he said.

"Half of it? You're a plain fool, Peters. I'll own the whole place. Soda Springs and all," he added. "Old man Carr owns the Hour-Glass, don't he?"

"He owns half of it," said Peters. "That's all. When old man Peter Vinton died, he left the Hour-Glass half to Joe Carr, his old partner, and half to his sister's son, one Gerald Kane. When Carr wanted to borrow on his half of the place, we had to look up the will. That's how I know I saw the will. It says that if either

"For the love of God!" Dustin was breathless. "...Say that again."

"Peters said it again and Dustin let go a smoke-curse of profanity. It was not the jovial profanity of good-nature but the vitriolic overflow of one who fears he has been hurt and who is not sure of the extent of the injury. In one brief kaleidoscopic moment the failure of his plans seemed sure. If Gerald Kane, the nephew of old Peter Vinton, owned half the Hour-Glass, then he, Sam Dustin, even if he succeeded in cutting Joe Carr, was only getting a new partner.

He sized old Peters and whirled him about in the moonlight to face him. There was but one thing to be done. Too much depended on what old Kane knew! That miserable old desert-rat could send him and Spike to jail for half a lifetime and Joe Carr could keep him out of a fortune. The solution came in a sudden storm of ill-considered impulse.

"If you want to keep your own old wife's head," he snarled, "you buy up for me every scrap of paper that old Carr has signed. I want to own the half-share of the Hour-Glass. Get me!"

Peters gaped helplessly at him. "I mean what I say, you old fool. Where can I find this man Gerald Kane? The man who owns the other half of the Hour-Glass?"

"I don't know, Mr. Dustin. I swear I don't. Nobody knows. Even Mr. Carr doesn't know. He's been trying to find him through Mr. Burley of the Drovers Bank in Cato but he wrote up to me that he was handling Mr. Kane's business and that Mr. Kane was travelling somewhere and couldn't be reached just now."

Dustin granted doubtingly but he could do nothing at present. He had plenty of money in the bank and Peters knew it. There was no question of the validity of the check that Dustin wrote at the hotel desk and passed to the gray-facied little cashier who took it sulkily. He pointed it, refused a cigar and headed for the bank feeling like a condemned criminal who has received notice of an unexpected reprieve.

"I'm sorry for old Carr," he muttered. "But I can't help it. I can't see Mame go to the Fourhorse and that's what'll happen if Dustin sees out that note. Oh, hell! What's the use of this?" But I wish I could put a spoke in Dustin's wheel."

He saw Pegram at the bank who was only too glad to get rid of Carr's note for Dustin's check and he turned that over to Dustin who promptly headed back for the Broken Spur. He found Spike cautiously awaiting him and he was drawn into the office by a nod from him.

"What luck, Sam?" "The best in the world except for one thing. I found out that old Carr does not own all the Hour-Glass. He owns half of it. The other half belongs to one Gerald Kane, nephew of old Peter Vinton. If either Carr or Kane dies, the other gets the whole place."

"Well!" said Spike who saw no further than the end of his nose. "You call it that, do you? Damned if I do. I can't get at this man Kane. One man seems to know his address. If I could find him, I'd offer to buy his share of the Hour-Glass. One thing is sure now, though. We've simply got to find out from old Dad Kane the exact place where he located that ore."

"I hope you can shut his damned mouth," said Spike passionately. "See, Raynor, the tax collector was here for grub and old man Kane began shootin' off his face. He was strident! Gay and Curre about what he seen 'em doing up in the hills. I headed him off in time and I don't think Raynor caught on to what he was sayin'..." What you got to do?"

he asked sharply for Dustin, with a sharp little oath, was heading for the bunk-house.

Old Dad Kane, standing just inside the door, was suddenly snatched off his feet and was sent spinning against the wall. He turned like a flash and a rusty old six-gun, a cap and ball affair, was thrust under Dustin's nose.

"You keep your hands where they're used to bein'..." In other men's pockets," snapped the old prospector. "What you want? Hey?"

"To shut your foot head and to keep you from lettin' all the world in on what you found. You damned old fool! Don't you know that one word from Ed Raynor'll send a hundred men up Red Water? Come into the house. I want to talk to you."

Wholly angry, sweating, incoherent threats at every pore, Kane followed Dustin into the bunk-house. In the room Dustin turned on him:

"Look here, Dad..." His very tone was placating for he had had time to reflect. "...It's all my fault. I just couldn't stand seein' our one chance of a fortune go glimmerin' just because we talk too damned much. I don't know just what you said but I do know that after a long time in the hills most men's jaws relax. You mustn't give any one even a hint that you found pay-dirt in the hills. If you do, we're busted. You know well enough that—"

Ed Raynor will start a stampede up there. Where'll we be then?"

North Pole Controversy

Claim Dr. Cook Came As Close To Pole, As Admiral Peary

The claims of Dr. Frederick A. Cook to discovery of the North Pole were credited by J. Gordon Hayes, Polar historian, with as much accuracy as those of Admiral Robert E. Peary.

In his book, "The Conquest of the North Pole," published recently, Hayes said many of Cook's statements "may be accepted as genuine and truthful."

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett were said by Hayes to have been the first persons actually to reach the Pole.

"Admiral Peary," Hayes said, "never was within 90 or more miles of the North Pole. There have been many critics of Peary's claim on both sides of the Atlantic, and all disinterested inquirers have come to the same conclusion—that he didn't reach the Pole; by this it may be understood he never was within 50 or more miles of its position."

Hayes submits Dr. Cook in 1908 "probably reached at least as high a latitude as that attained by Admiral Peary the following year; that Cook's statements except in relation to his attainment of the North Pole and possibly his glacial island, may be accepted as substantially genuine, truthful and accurate."

Life moves in cycles and all seeming changes

There is no change. The Grecian Helen's look Was clear as yours when she was glad and young. Though now, between the pages of a book Her story lives in a neglected tongue.

Life moves in cycles. Helen once was fair As you do today, for Paris' eyes to see As you for mine, and on your cheek You bring beauty's banner than did she.

Father: "Yes, but this twig is bent on being a girl, and we're inclined to let it go that."

Canadian western sheep ranges produce annually from 150,000 to 200,000 lambs available for fattening purposes. In addition, there are about 100,000 to 150,000 undesirable farm lambs that would benefit by being fattened.

Little Helps For This Week

"He that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" 1 John 4:20.

Old friends, old scenes, will lover-lie he. As I look of heaven in each we see: Some softening gleam of love and prayer Shall dawn on every cross and altar.

It requires far more of the constraining love of Christ to love our cousins and neighbors of the heavenly family, than to feel warm to our suffering brothers in Turkey or Madeira. To love the whole Church is one thing, to love, that is to delight in the graces and veil the defects, of the person who misunderstands us and opposed our plans yesterday, whose peculiar limitations grate on our most sensitive feelings, or whose natural faults are precisely those from which our natural character most reviles is quite another.

A Temple there has been upon earth, a spiritual Temple made up of living souls, a Temple with God for its light and Christ for its high priest, with wings of angels for its arches, with saints and teachers for its pillars, and with worshippers for its pavement. Wherever there is Faith and Love this Temple is—J. H. Newman.

Just as being accounted for a niche to buy a cup of coffee one reads that the Brazilian coffee crop this year will amount to 29,880,000 bags of which 13,833,000 bags will be destroyed to keep down the supply. Isn't it a queer world? Or is it the people?
